CERTIFICATION TRAINING

for

SUPERVISOR of Landfill Operations

August 17-20, 2004

**&
MANAGER
of Landfill Operations

September 21-24, 2004

ABOUT THE TRAINING...

Certification Training for Municipal Solid Waste (MSW) Landfill Operators for 2004 will be held in August and September at the S.C. Association of Counties facility at 1919 Thurmond Mall in Columbia.

The primary goal of the training is to provide individuals who work as MSW landfill and MSW incinerator ash landfill operators a certification program designed to improve operational practices at their landfills. The training will increase awareness of the impact that the operational practices have on human health, safety and the environment.

Participants will gain insight on:

- operating a facility that is safe for employees and customers;
- maintaining regulatory compliance and environmental integrity at the facility;
- operating profitably and/or cost effectively; and
- improving industry standards through better operation by well-trained solid waste management professionals.

Participants successfully completing the course and examination will fulfill the requirements of R.61-107.14, Solid Waste Management: Municipal Solid Waste Landfill Operator's Certification.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q. Which course would best suit my needs?

- A. Our definition of a MANAGER is the person(s) with responsibility for the overall management of the facility. The definition for a SUPERVISOR is the person(s) with supervisory responsibility for a specific facility site or shift.

Q. My facility is not a MSW landfill. Why did I receive this brochure?

- A. Mandatory training for all types of landfill operators likely will be required in the near future. Since the majority of the current course topics apply to all landfill applications, the S.C. Department of Health and Environmental Control (DHEC) recommends that all landfill operators take advantage of this training opportunity. The Supervisor's Course is the best option for non-MSW landfill operators.
